

While visiting San Francisco, you will find that the people there are warm, loving and always willing to lend a helping hand. Many are extremely politically active, are very involved in their neighborhoods, and are passionate about championing environmental causes.

To get a weekly update on the people of San Francisco, visit
<http://enmanuel-blog.blogspot.com>

For an official visitor's guide, visit www.onlyinsanfrancisco.com

Images provided by Enmanuel De Jesus
S.F. Map provided by GoogleEarth

PEOPLE OF SAN FRANCISCO

With over 800,000 people living in the Golden City, full of various cultures and diversity, San Francisco is the place to be. Though living here can be extremely expensive, nothing seems to weaken the spirits of its inhabitants.

When the right weather hits the city, there is nothing better for people to do than hit the parks or the beaches with their family and friends. San Franciscans are nature lovers and thus love the outdoors.

Friday night is the one time of the week when people like to blow off some steam after a week of hard work. One popular area is the Mission district, located in the heart of San Francisco. With its many restaurants of various world cuisines, along with countless bars and night clubs, you may run in to some crazy people out there.

A great passion San Franciscans have is their love for sports. You will definitely find that many are hardcore fans of the San Francisco Giants and the 49ers. Some may not be sports fanatics but they will always give their support for their city's team players.

Famed natives of San Francisco include:

Bruce Lee (actor)
Danny Glover (actor)
Clint Eastwood (actor/film director)
Jack London (writer)
Jerry Garcia (musician)
Margaret Cho (comedian)
Mel Blanc (voiceover actor)
Natalie Wood (actress)

Non-natives but nonetheless residents of SF include:

Chris Colombus (film director)
Francis Ford Copolla (film director)
Robin Williams (actor)